

THE AFRICAN WORLD HERITAGE FUND AT THE 41st WORLD HERITAGE COMMITTEE MEETING IN POLAND

LAUNCH OF THE EXHIBITION ON SLAVE TRADE IN AFRICA

The AWHF's exhibition was displayed from 2nd to 5th July 2017. It comprised eight printed panels showcasing various angles of slavery related experiences through a combination of photos, maps and texts. The launching ceremony was organised on 3rd July in the presence of esteemed officials including the Minister of Sanitation, Environment and Sustainable Development of Cote d'Ivoire, Ms Anne Desiree Ouloto and the Director General of UNESCO, Ms. Irina Bokova. The launch was structured in a guided tour followed with a group photo of the officials. The exhibition was aimed at giving an opportunity to interrogate the current representation of slavery experiences on the Tentative and World Heritage Lists. It was also an attempt to showcase the richness and diversity of slavery sites. For more information, visit our website.

These are Mbanza Kongo (Angola), Asmara, a Modernist City of Africa (Eritrea), Khomani Cultural Landscape (South Africa) and W-Arly-Pendjari Complex (Benin, Burkina Faso) which is an extension of W National Park of Niger inscribed since 1996. With these inscriptions, Angola and Eritrea made their first entries to the World Heritage List while Benin and Burkina Faso inscribed their first natural site. South Africa joined Morocco and Ethiopia hosting within its boundaries the highest number (9) of World Heritage Sites in Africa.

The results above are significant and constitute a serious way forward for World Heritage implementation in the African region. These results were achieved through efforts by many stakeholders working closely with the African World Heritage Fund including the World Heritage Committee members (Angola, Burkina Faso, Tanzania, Tunisia and Zimbabwe), the World Heritage Centre and Advisory Bodies as well as the Centre for Heritage Development in Africa (CHDA) and the School of African Heritage (EPA). AWHF commend the excellent spirit of fruitful partnerships and wishes to congratulate the States Parties of Angola, Benin, Burkina Faso, Eritrea and South Africa for their successful achievements.
